

“Walking the Music Parenting Tightrope”

A Parent-to-Parent Discussion at YOUR SCHOOL

Moderated by: AMY NATHAN

“Music mom” & author of these two books from Oxford University Press

THE MUSIC PARENTS’ SURVIVAL GUIDE

THE YOUNG MUSICIAN’S SURVIVAL GUIDE

FORMAT:

In a parent-to-parent discussion, author Amy Nathan at first shares insights, advice and lessons-learned on the challenges of music parenting (based on her interviews with the many parents, musicians and educators featured in her books).

Then the discussion is opened up so parents in the audience can speak about their own concerns and experiences, and offer each other their own music-parenting suggestions.

*

Amy Nathan has moderated parent-to-parent discussions at major music schools and music programs, including at Peabody Preparatory, Temple University Music Preparatory, MD Talent Education Center, DC Youth Orchestra, Cleveland Orchestra Youth Orchestra and at the PreCollege Divisions of the Manhattan School of Music and the Juilliard School.

Pictured here are some of the musicians featured in THE MUSIC PARENTS’ SURVIVAL GUIDE
(from L: Joshua Bell, Jennifer Koh, Christian McBride, Kelli O’Hara, Anthony McGill, Paula Robison)

For more information, check out the author’s website: www.AmyNathanBooks.com

To arrange a parent-to-parent discussion at your school or program, contact: AmyNbooks@gmail.com / 914.833.0415